How many contact hours of continuing education are required for license renewal for registered nurses and licensed practical nurses?	To renew a license on active status to practice nursing in Alabama, registered nurses and licensed practical nurses must earn 24 contact hours from Board-approved or Board recognized continuing education provider [Chapter 610-X-4-.08]. If licensed by examination, reinstatement or endorsement during the earning period the contact hours are prorated. A prorated chart is on the Board's web site, www.abn.alabama.gov .
What is a contact hour?	A contact hour is a unit of measurement of organized learning experience lasting fifty (50) minutes [610-X-2-.10(5)]. When attending a conference, workshop or courses that last a full day, contact hours are calculated on the basis of time spent in class/at presentations. Time spent for breaks, lunches and general meetings is not counted as part of the contact hours.

What is the earning period for accruing continuing education?	Continuing Education Earning Period: Two-year period of time during which contact hours shall be accrued. The license renewal year for licensed practical nurses occurs every odd year. The license renewal year for registered nurses occurs every even year. Effective January 1, 2009, the earning period for registered nurses shall be the same as the license period. Effective January 1, 2008, the earning period for licensed practical nurses shall be the same as the license period.
If I earn more than twenty-four contact hours of continuing education during the earning period, can the hours be used for the next renewal?	No, continuing education cannot be carried over from one earning period to another.
Does the Board maintain a record of my continuing education?	Yes, nurses may view their individual online CE record at the Board's web site, www.abn.alabama.gov . Alabama Board of Nursing approved providers submit electronic records to the Board of continuing Education provided to licensed Alabama nurses [610-X-10-.06 (2) (e)]. The individual online CE record only reflects continuing education obtained from a Board – approved provider for the current earning period.
Can I edit my online continuing education record?	Nurses can edit information they have entered in their online individual CE record. Information submitted by ABN - approved providers cannot be edited by the nurse.
My individual online continuing education record does not list all the classes I have taken from an Alabama Board of Nursing approved provider. What should I do?	Contact the continuing education provider. The provider will be able to tell you if the class has been submitted to the Board. The provider will follow-up with the ABN to resolve the problem if necessary.
Will continuing education courses/activities attended in another state count toward license renewal?	Courses/activities attended by licensees in another state which are approved by another board of nursing are considered to be acceptable continuing education activities. The nurse will need to add these classes to their individual online continuing education record.
Will the Board of Nursing accept continuing education credit granted by another profession?	The Board specified that selected categories of courses or activities which have undergone appropriate review by other State regulatory agencies and professions are acceptable. Examples of acceptable categories include, but are not limited to, courses approved by the Board of Dental Examiners, the Alabama State Bar, the Board of Pharmacy, the Board of Social Work Examiners, the Board of Education, the Alabama Nursing Home Administration Board, the Psychology Examiners Board, and courses classified as Category I Continuing Medical Education by the American Medical Association.
